

End-to-End Test Plan: HR Administrator Path

Scenario 1

Given I am a visitor (not logged in).

When I don't fill in the email or password fields of the administrator login, and I click on the login button.

Then I stay on the login page, and I am invited to fill in the missing field.

Scenario 2

Given I am a visitor (not logged in).

When I fill in the email field of the administrator login in the wrong format (without the form string@chain), and I click on the login button.

Then I stay on the login page, and I am invited to fill in the email field using the right format.

Scenario 3

Given I am a visitor (not logged in).

When I fill in the email fields of the administrator login in the right format (in the form string@chain), the password field of the administrator login, and I click on the login button.

Then I get sent to the dashboard page.

Scenario 4

Given I am logged in as an administrator.

When I click on a pending expense report ticket.

Then the expense report is displayed with all the fields filled except its status. It can be modified.

Scenario 5

Given I'm logged in as an administrator and click on a pending ticket.

When I click on the comment field.

Then I can insert a comment.

Scenario 6

Given I'm logged in as an administrator and click on a pending ticket.

When I click on the accept button.

Then the expense report's status appears as accepted in the feed. The number of expense reports in the accepted group is increased by 1, and the status appears as accepted in the employee's expense report table.

Scenario 7

Given I'm logged in as an administrator and click on a pending ticket.

When I click the decline button.

Then the expense report's status appears as rejected in the expense report feed. The number of expense reports in the rejected group increases by 1, and the status appears as rejected in the employee's expense report table.

Scenario 8

Given I am logged in as an administrator.

When I click on an expense report ticket, and it's in either accepted or declined status.

Then The ticket expense report is displayed with all the fields filled in, including its status. It can no longer be modified.

Scenario 9

Given I am logged in as an administrator and click on an expense report in pending, accepted, or declined status.

When I click on the view button.

Then a modal appears with the PDF file of the receipt.

Scenario 10

Given I am logged in as an administrator and click on an expense report in pending, accepted, or declined status.

When I click on the download button.

Then the receipt is downloaded in PDF file format.

Scenario 11

Given I'm logged in as an administrator, and I'm on the dashboard page.

When I click on the disconnect button on the vertical bar.

Then I am sent to the login page.

Scenario 12

Given I'm logged in as an administrator, and I'm on the dashboard page.

When I navigate backward.

Then I stay on the dashboard page.